HAT TO SEE in Honolulu has probably been better answered by Katherine M. Yates than any other writer who has attempted to tell tourists what to do and what to see in Honolulu. Her book is entitled "One Month in Honolulu" and can be obtained at the rooms of the Hawaiian Promotion Committee, Young Hotel Block without charge. Katherine Yates has schemed out a trip for each day of a month's stay.

Katherine Yates' first day was spent at the Moana hotel on Waikiki Beach, where she enjoyed the wonderful bathing. On Sunday flight she listened to the Hawalian singers at the Moana. The Aquarium near the end of the King street car line gave her an idea of the wonderful fish that inhabit the waters of

Her first motor trip took her about Diamond Head, through Manoa Valley, where the homes are beautiful and the mountains tower close and green on three sides. Then to the Pali. Here the motor stopped at a sheer precipice and below stretched a marvelous panorama of valleys and sea.

One morning at 8:30 she started on the trip around the island, out through the Pall, down its winding road, and along the windward side of the Island, stopping for refreshments at Aubrey's Hotel, then to Haleiwa, where a fine luncheon was enjoyed at a splendid little hotel. The trip was 83 miles long, through pineapples, sugar cane, past Schofield Barracks, and through quaint settlements of natives.

A tramping trip up Palolo Gorge, started from the beginning of a trail, which can be reached in a taxicab. The trail is covered with beautiful ferns and vegetation. A waterfall of great beauty is hidden in the upper end of the valley. Through Moanalua Gardens she journeyed one day to a sugar mill on the outskirts of the city and in the evening she enjoyed a splendid concert by the Hawaiian Band. The drive up Tantalus, on the slopes of which are splendid homes, gives a fine view of the Honolulu side of the Island, and on the way back Punchbowl, an extinct volcano, rises 498 feet high out of the city
